

Activity Title: Graduate Orientation Committee

Validator Name: Nadia Simmons

Validator Email: nsimmons@grenfell.mun.ca

Validator Phone Number: (709) 639-6585

Department Organization: Office of Research and Graduate Studies

Activity Category: Student-led initiatives

Activity Description:

Orientation is an important part of the graduate student experience. This is one of the first interactions new students have with campus, staff and other graduate students. Graduate students on the orientation committee will help plan and implement orientation for graduate students. The committee meets biweekly until July and then meets weekly throughout the summer.

Position Details:

- Cultivating interactive, safe spaces for students to interact with each other
- Creating venues for students to get to know campus, faculty and staff
- Promoting Corner Brook and surrounding area, and its resources for students
- Providing students with the tools and resources they will need to succeed in Grad School
- Ensuring a diverse and inclusive environment for students

Activity Contact: Nadia Simmons

Activity Contact Email: nsimmons@grenfell.mun.ca

Anticipated Learning Outcomes:

Students will learn, practice, and enhance their project management, planning and creativity skills. This activity will provide students the opportunity to sit on a committee and learn about committee structures, and how they operate. Students will also learn about the different departments in the university and how they play a role in orientation.

Applicable Competencies:

- Creative thinking/problem solving
- Social/civic responsibility
- Diversity awareness/intercultural understanding
- Professionalism
- Teamwork
- Communication
- Leadership and Innovation
- Digital Literacy